More Wacker silicon for ersol

ersol Solar Energy AG has signed a new silicon supply contract with the German company Wacker Chemie AG.

Effective from 2010 onwards the supply deal will enable ersol to generate an additional 300 MWp of crystalline solar cells over a period of nine years. The silicon price has been fixed for the entire term of the contract, with ersol scheduled to make down payments to Wacker Chemie.

Dr. Claus Beneking, CEO of ersol commented: 'ersol still believes that silicon will remain the limiting factor in the PV industry in the near future. To secure growth we decided to sign a further long-term contract with Wacker.'
